

Application for Computer Security Group Steering Committee

The continued quality and vitality of the DOE Computer Security Group Training Conference is dependent on voluntary efforts from the group members. Although everyone in the group has the privilege of and responsibility for supporting the conference, the most visible efforts come from the Steering Committee. These members are selected from the group at large, and have the total responsibility for the planning and management of conference activities.

Candidates for committee positions are evaluated by the current committee and selected for one or two year terms. Qualifications for membership in the committee include characteristics such as the following:

- ! Vested interest in the computer security field
- ! Experience in working in a computer security or related position
- ! Ability to work with people
- ! Understanding of the goals of computer security in the DOE community
- ! Job flexibility which allows at least a minimal investment of time and some travel expenses

To aid in evaluating candidates qualifications in the above areas, please provide the following:
